Document-handling assessment

Earlier results, not the current ones

WHAT WAS ASSESSED
Production, with document handling tested in staging (our test environment)

SOURCES AND BASIS
Our own automated checks and the company owner's attestations

These are earlier results, not the current ones. Each shows its status when the results were published and, separately, its status when this report was generated.

Beside each promise is the latest result of the check behind it: when it ran, where and on what basis. A result goes out of date on its own if it is not checked again in time. These are our own automated checks, not an independent audit.

Your document is deleted after the review

Every night, test documents go through the browser and the API in our test environment, and we check that the uploaded file and the review are deleted as described under Deletion below.

Good to know

- This report sets out our own automated checks and the company owner's attestations. It is not an independent audit.
- Detailed evidence, such as access settings, is not included. It can be requested separately, and we review each request before sharing anything.
- While a review runs, its own working copy of the text is held for at most 15 minutes and then deleted. The company's two owners and the account that deploys the service can technically reach review data, as running the service requires, and every access is logged.
